A construction crew was building a new road through a rural area, knocking down trees as it progressed. A superintendent noticed that one tree had a nest of birds who couldn't fly yet and so he marked the tree so that it would not be cut down. Several weeks later the superintendent came back to the tree. He got into a bucket truck and was lifted up so that he could see into the nest. The little birds were gone. They had gotten old enough to fly. The superintendent ordered the tree cut down. As the tree crashed to the ground, the nest fell clear and some of the material that the birds had gathered to make the nest was scattered everywhere. Part of it was a scrap torn from a Sunday Bible class pamphlet. On the scrap of paper were these words: He careth for you.
